

CHEM 121 – 3 – 7 Principles of Chemistry II

Course revision:

x Description

Rationale:

CHEM 122 is no longer offered as CHEM 111 and CHEM 112 both now funnel into CHEM 121. This previous change was to maintain articulation with other BC institutions that had changed their curriculum.

Calendar description:

Current:

A continuation of CHEM 111 with particular reference to organic chemistry, thermodynamics, chemical equilibrium and chemical kinetics. The laboratory program introduces a series of experiments in organic and physical chemistry illustrating concepts discussed in lectures

Proposed:

This course is a continuation of CHEM 111 and CHEM 112 with particular reference to organic chemistry, thermodynamics, chemical equilibrium, chemical kinetics, and acid-base chemistry. The laboratory program introduces a series of experiments in organic and physical chemistry illustrating concepts discussed in lectures.

PHRM 104 – 42 hours Pharmacy Computer Applications

x Corequisites

x Hours

Rationale:

PHRM 104 starts before PHRM 101 ends therefore needs to become co-requisite.

The extension of the Pharmacy Technician program is an accreditation requirement. Therefore, 5.5 hours has been added to PHRM 104 course to provide additional time to cover the current course content.

PHRM 107 – 77 hours Drug Distribution

x Description

x Hours

Rationale:

The updated PHRM 107 description more accurately reflects the learning outcomes of the course. In order to cover the course content 27.5 hours have been added.

Description:

Current:

This course introduces the learner to all aspects of dispensing. Learners complete a calculation component related to dispensing prescriptions as well as fill prescriptions and complete all required pricing and record keeping functions. Private plan and billing is introduced and learners using the Drug Benefit List and Lowest Cost Alternative for applicable client groups.

Proposed:

This course introduces the learner to all aspects of dispensing including basic pharmaceutical calculations and how to interpret and fill prescriptions in a simulated practice setting. Learners apply information from the e-CPS and Low Cost Alternative program for applicable prescriptions.

Pharmacy Technician Certificate

Program revision:

x Program outline

Rationale:

Standard 12 of the document of The Standards for Accreditation of Pharmacy Technician Programs in Canada (revised Aug. 2015) released by The Canadian Council for Accreditation of Pharmacy Programs (CCAPP) states that the didactic program must be a minimum of 650 hours delivered over a minimum of 26 weeks plus the experiential component as defined under the Practice Experience Standard. Therefore in order to maintain the full accreditation awarded to the program by CCAPP, the program needs to extend from 20 weeks to 26 weeks in length. An additional 38.5 hours will also be added to the program to maintain 30 hours per week.

Cost to students: Tuition increase related to additional length of program - approximately $300 for the program.

OADM 143 – 60 hours Accounting I x Hours

Rationale:

The department has conducted a thorough review of the Administrative Assistant Certificate program and has determined that a minor realignment of hours and content is needed. When the program was revised two years ago, we changed our Accounting I course by deleting content and thus hours. We, in effect, also deleted a transfer credit to the Business Administration program and other accounting certification bodies for those students who want to continue their education (60 students in a 5-year period). We are adding the content back into the course to keep those laddering opportunities open for students and to give the student more content that will help them succeed in their prospective careers.

ANTH 103 – 3 – 3 Introduction to Archaeology

Course revision:

x Description

Rationale:

The existing course description is minimal and out of date. The revised wording gives more details on the course content and will make the course more appealing to students.

Description:

Current:

An introduction to the theory and methods of studying humans through the recovery, analysis, and interpretation of their material remains.

Proposed:

The material in this course examines what archaeologists do, as well as how and why they do it. Archaeological techniques such as stratigraphy, sampling, dating, and excavation are defined and their applications investigated. Discussions will include the importance of the past to the modern world, recognition of different stakeholders' viewpoints, and the ethics of preserving and studying archaeological remains.

Implementation date: September 2017

ANTH 111 – 3 – 3 Introduction to Biological Anthropology

Course revision:

x Description

Rationale:

The existing course description is minimal and out of date. The revised wording gives more details on the course content and will make the course more appealing to students.

Description:

Current:

An examination of the place of humans in nature. Topics include human genetics, biologically determined variation in contemporary populations, human growth and development, comparative primatology, human evolution and human disease.

Proposed:

The basic concepts and ideas in biological anthropology are covered in a survey of evolutionary theory, genetics, non-human primates and their behaviour, hominin evolution, population dynamics and variations, medical anthropology, and the evolution of human behaviour. This course includes the application of anthropological analysis, concepts, and theories, and evaluation of different theoretical approaches and interpretations.

ANTH 121 – 3 – 3 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology

Course revision:

x Description

Rationale:

The existing course description is minimal and out of date. The revised wording gives more details on the course content and will make the course more appealing to students.

Description:

Current:

Topics include the history of anthropology, problems in anthropological fieldwork and the definition of culture. The social, economic, political and religious systems of non-industrial societies will be presented, with examples from around the world.

Proposed:

This course is an overview of cultural anthropology and its specializations. Examples, drawn from around the world, illustrate the diversity, similarities, and differences existing in gender, kinship and marriage, and social, economic, political, and religious systems. The methods, theories, and empirical findings

x Prerequisites

Rationale:

This is a 200 level archaeology field course which should have ANTH 103 (Introduction to Archaeology) as a prerequisite. Students require a basic understanding of the subject if they are to receive the most benefit from participating in active excavation work. Course description needed to be changed to reflect the variable location and duration of the course.

Course description:

Current:

An eight-week summer course on archaeological field techniques. Practical application of archaeological inquiry including reconnaissance survey, photography, mapping, excavation and artifact analysis.

Proposed:

This summer course on archaeological field techniques uses practical application of archaeological inquiry including reconnaissance survey, photography, mapping, excavation, and artifact analysis. Duration, hours, and location of the field school will vary depending on the particular project.
